

Dear Customers and Future Customers,

I am pleased to announce the launch of my new website. You can access it using the link below. I hope you will bookmark it and visit it often. The website will provide the 'story' behind the winery and the wine-making at Julie LePla Winery. Your feedback is always welcome!

You will also be able to purchase wines on the website making it easier than last year. As you will see when you go through the purchase process, the sale will not be final immediately. I will determine the shipping costs and confirm the total with you before finalizing the purchase. The website is 'secure' and there is an additional layer of encryption to protect all of your information.

There are two wines listed on the site. My 2007 ZinClaire is being released today with this announcement. This Zinfandel rosé, much like last year's is light and refreshing, especially if chilled. I made a limited amount this year- only 8 cases. The second offering is the 2006 ZinClaire. There are still a few bottles of this wine available.

Very soon I will be announcing the release of my 2007 Zinfandel. I am excited to say the wine has good reviews out of the barrel. I expect to bottle it in August and release it in September so watch for another announcement at that time.

Thank you all for your interest and I hope you enjoy the website and the wine. Here is the link - <http://www.julielepla.com/index.htm>

Lastly, you have received this e-mail because you have either purchased wine or have expressed interest. If you would like me to take you off the mailing list, please let me know.
